

STOOL

IMSÈTI

The collection ,A vo sù, a vo giò' as presented at the Salone Internazionale del Mobile 2012 is based on the idea of orchestrating a confined space with a few pieces that meet essential human needs by means of their unassuming multi-purpose properties. Imsèti is a contemporary homage to a rustic, three-legged stool, replacing two legs with a single panel made of solid red cedarwood. The intersecting horizontal panel works as the seating surface, interrupted in the middle by an angled, cylindrical leg of aluminium. The stool can also be used as a side table. Optionally, a matching chair cushion can be purchased.
